

CONFIDENCE

PASTOR GREGORY M. DICKOW

I refuse to throw away my confidence no matter what I see.

I will not allow what I see to discourage me.

I will not allow what I see to pull me down and to make me throw away my confidence.

I make a decision, I will not throw away my confidence, because my confidence has a great reward. (Hebrews 10:35)

It may take a while, but I have patience; for in a little while, what He promised will manifest because I am the just, and I live by faith and because I live by faith, I will not shrink back. Because when I shrink back, God has no pleasure in me and my number one goal is to be pleasing to God. (Hebrews 10:38)

I maintain therefore an attitude of faith, a spirit of faith, a position of faith that is always pleasing to God. And therefore the manifestation will come because I maintain my position of pleasing God by using my faith and holding fast to my confession and never letting it go. (Hebrews 11:6)

I will not draw back.

I will not shrink back, but I will have faith until the end, until the outcome, until what I believe is what I see. If I don't see it, that won't change what I believe. Because the reason I'm believing is first and foremost to be pleasing to God, then to see the manifestation.

The manifestation will come when I'm pleasing to God. And I choose to hold fast to faith, to confidence in this Word, and I will not let go.

I will not give up.

I will not let go of my confession no matter what I see, no matter what I feel, no matter what other people say or do, no matter how many people shrink back.

A thousand may fall on my side and ten thousand at my right hand, but it shall not approach me. It's not coming near my dwelling place because I'm holding fast to my confession. (Psalm 91:7)

I confess I'm blessed.

I confess I'm healed.

I confess I have wisdom.

I confess I'm happy.

I confess I have the money I need.

I confess I have the job I need.

I confess I'm a soul winner.

I confess I have the right answer in every situation.

I confess I'm the head and not the tail.

I confess I will not give up.

I will not let go of my confession of faith.

I will not be discouraged when I don't see results. Therefore I refuse to throw away my confidence.

I will not change my confession.

My love will not grow cold.

I abide in love.

I remain in love.

God loves me and I love others and therefore my faith works. (Galatians 5:6)

And as long as my faith is working, my giving continues.

As long as my giving continues, my harvest is on the way.

As long as my harvest is on the way, bitterness cannot enter in and defile my roots.

My roots are healthy roots.

My roots are productive roots.

I've got the Word of God in my roots.

The Word of God is what I meditate on day and night.

And I'm like a tree firmly rooted, firmly planted in streams and rivers of living water and therefore I will bring forth fruit in my season.

My leaf will not wither.

In whatever I do, I will prosper. (Psalm 1:2-3)

So, I make the confession that bitterness will not be rooted in my life.

My harvest will not stop because my giving will not stop, because my faith will not fail, because my love will not grow cold, because my confession will not change, because I will not throw away my confidence.
